THE WASHINGTON CHITIC,

Washington, D. C. SICHARD H. SYLVESTER Editor WASHINGTON, DEC. 20, 1887.

NATIONAL PRISON REPORM.

The enablishment of a Government penitentiary and reformatory, to which Attorney-General Garland has called at-tention as a matter deserving the consideration of Congress can be niged upon principles of humanity as well as econ amy.

It is unfortunately true that notwith standing the long and able signation of the subject, the progress of prison re-lorm has been slow and unsatisfactory. A seems very difficult to eliminate from our penul system the old, harbaric beory that punishment for wrong-do-ting is simply the vengeance that society weaks upon its criminals, and that when a man has once entered the gates of a penitentiary as a convicted felon, he caves all hope behind and becomes no longer an object of concern to the outside world.

Surrounded by the worst of associations contemporate mental labor for the tions, condemned to menial labor for the benefit of greedy contractors, denied the anjoyment of proper sanitary conditions lither for mind or body, breathing an atmosphere recking with moral impuri-ties and frequently subjected to starva-tion diet and brutal discipline, he serves the State his allotted term only to be he state his anotted term only to be lischarged with a broken spirit within and an ineffaceable stigma of disgrace without. Society has had the satisfac-tion of vindicating the law, but in the meantime it has lost a man. It has punished but it has not reformed— worse yet, it has destroyed as a rule all chances of reform, and is so much the worse off, as the capabilities it might have turned into new and useful channels have been more or less hopelessly perverted.

Now the presumption is that if the Government should build a national peniisnitary and reformatory as sug-guested, it would be the model institu-tion of the kind in the world. It should not only be the most complete in all its appointments so far as the safe-keeping of prisoners is concerned, but in its methods of moral and mental discipline and in the comprehensiveness and thor-oughness of its experimental work.

Its directors would be clothed with the obligation as well as authority to make application of the most rational and practical ideas of reform in the man-agement of their trust, availing themagement of their trust, available solves of the best thought of the country in this direction, and step by step, test by test, perfecting a system which should be the country that country the country state of the countr represent the crowning glory and con-summation of reformatory effort.

Nothing less than this deserves to be contemplated by Congress. Unless the Government is ready to establish a prison which shall be an honor to the civilization of the age, and a stand-ing represent to the barbarities and infamies that characterize the treatment of criminals in too many of the States, it had better make no more. What is wanted is an institution that the States outof sheer self-respect shall be forced to pattern from, an institution to which the evil-doer should look forward to with terror, but which he may, if he so elects, look back upon with gratitude, as having dealt with him upon principles of humanity as well as justice, and not irrevocably robbed him of his man-

The suggestion of the Attorney-General in this behalf is one that certainly merits early and conscientions attention. It involves one of the highest and most important problems to which modern statesmanship can apply itself, the proper standards of penalty for crime and the possible reformation of the crime-committing classes.

IT BEGENS TO LOOK as though the pending tariff agitation would result in formulation of a compromise me satisfactory to both wings of the Demo-eratic party and many Republicans be-sides. The Administration is evidently disposed to need its opposition half way if not more on this question. Nothing is so essential to next year's politics as happy Democratic family.

Mn. G. FRANCIS TRAIN, the Canadian ditor, has not yet written an editoria favoring the annexation of the United

THE RESOLUTION introduced in the Senate yesterday by Mr. Hoar relative to the Centennial of the Constitution provides merely for an oration on the occasion, to be delivered by the Chief Justice of the United States. The further programme is yet to be arranged, an will doubtless be of an elaborate char r. It should, if possible, make spring and early summer of '89 a four-months' jubilee.

SPEAKING OF THE fisheries question dinners, &c., we rise to remark that Mr Joseph Chamberlain didn't leave Wash ngton without getting a bite.

quarters which no white child of re spectable parentage would be permitted to enter. There is a mistake in this matter which the Commissioners ought to rectify as soon as possible.

BERNARD G. CAULPIELD, who was first lected to Congress from Illinois in 1874, fill the unexpired term of J. B. Rice, deceased, and was afterward elected to the Forty-fourth Congress, died yester-day at Deadwood, Dak. He was a native of Alexandria, Va., was educated at Georgetown College and is well remembered by many citizens of Washington. He was about 59 years of age.

OUR MANUFACTURING output amounts to only seven thousand millions of dol-lars a year, and we want to double it by opening our markets to foreign compe-tition. We don't see exactly how it is going to be done, but that has nothing to do with what we want.

A SPLINTIN WILL probably represent the tariff plank in the next Democratic platform.

The Law or succession to the throne of Russia is that of regular descent, by the right of primogeniture, with preference of male over female heirs; so that in case of fatal casualty to the present Emperor the sceptre would pass into the hands of his eldest son, the Grand Duke Nicholas, now in his 20th year.

THE "PHILADELPHIA RECORD ALMA-NAO" for 1888 is by far the best that has come to hand this season in the variety and value of the useful information it contains. It is tastefully printed and adorned with handsome, original illustrations of its own.

AS IT SEEMS TO BE A matter of such national concern that the liquor traffic should first of all be absolutely prohibited in the District of Columbia, it would have been quite in order and might have served a purpose to, have called the National Convention of the Prohibition party in Washington instead of Indianapolis. Here is the place above all others, for nowhere else can the same pressure be brought to bear directly upon Congress.

It is difficult to get at the sober truth on the liquor question.

GENERAL AND CRITICULAR.

We had hoped to announce the following ticket for 1888 this morning: For President, Jno. L. Sullivan; for Vice-President, Jacob Kilmin; but Mr. Kilmin's lack of decisive action in his relations with Mr. James Smith of England yesterday on French soil, has to some extent thwarted our intentions, and we beg our readers' indulgence for a few days until we can investigate Mr. Kilmin's record.

Chicago Editor-looking over paper just out—Here Mr. Proof-reader, you've let a gross error get into the paper.
Proof-reader—What's that?
Editor—Why, I write 'They are a devoted couple," and you have got it "they are a divorced couple."
Proof-reader—Well, let it go, It will read all right by to-morrow.

A K street man met hisdaughter's "hope" in the hall and materially hastened his departure in the usual manner. Then he returned limping to the parlor and sat down.

"I hope you didn't hurt Harry, papa" sobled the daughter.

"No." tercely replied the old man, picking his foot up and nursing it, "No, I didn't hurt him, but if he ever comes here again with bricks in his coat-tail pocks, I'll kill him," and the girl smiled softly through her tears.

The New York Sun refers to Mr. Philadel-phia Ledger Childs as an "elegyable" candi-date for the Presidency. It is a grave matter to give a man epitally of this kind—and such a man as P. L. Childs.

In the South Kensington Museum, London, there is an enormous skeleton of a mastodon from Benton Ca, Missouri. This suramer when Congressman O'Neill of that State was over he was over he was not le was madering around the Museum lonesome enough to kill and worn out looking at so many strange things. Finally he ran across the mastodon. His eye rested upon the inscription and a wonderful light came into his face:

"By thunder, John," he exclaimed rapturously to his companion, "Look at that! Just look at it once?"

His companion, an Englighman, looked with more or less indifference.
